Candidates' Column.

Congress.—GEORGE F. MILLER Esq. of Union county is recommended for this post in the Unionist and Mercury papers and in the Sellingrove Post.

From the "Volunteer"
We do to day present the name of George F. Miller as our first choice for Congress. We do so on various grounds. 1st, he is the choice of a large majority of the Union party of Snyder county. 2d, he is in every particular suited to this high position. 3d, he is an honest man, and no political trickster. 4th, he is the strongest man in the district. 5th, he is entitled to the nomination. Mr. Miller is our first choice, and if all signs do not prove abortive he will be our next Representative in Congress.

State Senate.
Messrs. Editors—Permit me to suggest Capt. CHARLES SHORCKLEY, of Lewisburg, as a candidate for Senator. He is well and favorably known to the people of the new Senatorial District, and his fidelity, patriotism and ability eminently fit him for the position named. Justice.

Assembly.
Messrs. Editors—Knowing that the interests of Union county have been properly attended to and cared for in the Legislature, by SAMUEL H. GRIFFIN, Esq., our present Member in the House, during the session recently closed, and believing from past experience that he is worthy of the confidence and support of our people, we recommend him for re-election. MANY CITIZENS.

Sheriff.
At the last trial, THOMAS CHURCH was the second highest candidate for Sheriff, and nearly two years ago, while commanding his Company of Volunteers in action near Fair Oaks, received a wound from which he has barely recovered. His personal appearance, fitness, and the claims of his locality, are, undoubtedly, undisputed. May we not ask for him the unanimous support of Unionists for nomination and for election as Sheriff? UNION AND HARMONY.

Commissioner.
Messrs. Editors—In looking over the column for candidates in your paper, we notice SAMUEL DUNKLE recommended for Commissioner. Mr. Dunkle is a good man for that office, and will receive our hearty support. WHITE DEER.

Probably no man in our county was so great a loser, peculiarly, by the removal of the seat of Justice, as MICHL KLOCKNER, of New Berlin. Now while I was (and am) a decided advocate of that measure, I always felt it duty and policy to seek suitable occasions incidentally to compensate those whom the public interest damaged personally. In that spirit, Mr. Klockner was elected as Prothonotary, and Mr. Merrill, Register & Recorder. For the same reason, I ask a liberal vote for Mr. Klockner for Commissioner—satisfied that he is fit and deserving. BERTALDO.

GEORGE GETTELERS, of Mifflinburg, is a candidate for County Commissioner. He is a good man—in a good location—and should have a good vote. We recommend him as the right kind of a man, to all of the same sort. WEST BUFFALO.

Messrs. Editors—Please announce the name of SAMUEL DUNKLE in connection with the decision of the Primary election. Mr. D. is a practical man, of good business qualities, and of sterling worth—his superior is seldom met with. East Buffalo especially urge his nomination, inasmuch as they have not been represented in that Board for many years. EAST BUFFALO.

To Editors Star & Chronicle.—New Berlin claims, and we think are justly entitled to a share of the County Office, and in view of said claim I would recommend MICHL KLOCKNER as a suitable person for the office of County Commissioner for the ensuing term. His extensive experience and his sound judgment render him in every respect fully fit for said office. LEWISBURG.

Mifflinburg.—The ladies have made up and sent for the Sanitary Fair, money and other articles amounting to nearly $200. Dr. R. B. Watson has accepted his appointment as Assistant Surgeon at Chester, Pa. The Telegraph reports the songs of the frogs in the borough ponds. Recommends the site in the center of their Cemetery, as a square for a Monument to the Soldiers who have fallen or may fall in this war.

WELL DONE.—Union township, Union county, this week sent to the Philadelphia Sanitary Fair, $136 12, collected by Mrs. Charles Cawley and Mrs. Jno. K. Kreamer. To the restaurant department, Mrs. S. J. Walls sent $10, collected in Lewisburg—reported in Philad. paper.

Mr. F. Wilson, Chairman of the Agricultural Committee for Union county, also acknowledges the following:
White Deer Tp, by Ja's Marshall, $53 90
Kelly Tp, by Amelia Citingan, 31 75
Buffalo Tp, by A. J. Rishel, 10 00
$95 65

The Lewisburg Packing Committee also acknowledge the following:
By Mrs. Judge Walls, collected by Committees in Lewisburg $46 00
Coll. in St. Pauls Ch, do 4 00
3 boxes and 1 barrel valued at 68 50
$119 10
Also a box from Harley valued at 10 00
do Buffalo do 10 00
Collections from James Irwin 19 25
do Judge Simonton 28 00
do Geo. Himeleirich 31 75
do Charles Fry 8 50

The boxes contained dried apples, cherries, peaches, berries, quinces, corn, beef, pines, tongues—cans tomatoes, peaches, quinces, pears, plum, plum and apple butter, ham, crackers, hard soap, potatoes, wholeberries, wines, currant jelly, milk crackers, &c.

—There are other contributions made through various channels, but we insert all we see published, or that are made known to us.

An entertainment is to be held in Hagleton this (Friday) evening for the same object.

[Reminder to be drawn to-day]

SAMUEL STITZER, Co. E. 142d P. V., died in Hospital. He was from the west end of Union county.

Galen Lots, Isaac Dolby, and several others of our soldiers, have been transferred to hospitals in and near Philad.

Maj. William Frick is appointed Harbor Master for Chester.

A correspondent of the Pittsburgh Gazette has the following notice of the late John D. Musser, who was some time a resident of that city:
"In the death of Col. Musser, the community has suffered a loss which will be deeply felt, and the army has lost a man it could ill afford to lose. Feeling it to be duty, he left friends, business, everything, and went forth two years since, to do battle against the enemies of his much beloved country. It is but a short time since he spent a few days in this city on sick leave, and notwithstanding his physical unfitness, he remained until his command was ordered up his life on the altar of his country."
—The blood of martyred dead.
Calls for vengeance on the Southern host.

Our Soldiers in the South-West.
Col. JAMES CHAMBERLIN, of Nashville, (formerly of Lewisburg) has been selected by Gov. Curtin as a Pennsylvania Military Agent for the Southwest. The post was created by an act of the last Legislature, "to provide for the comfort and efficiency of our volunteers, the care of the sick and wounded, the sending home of the dead bodies of those who may die in service, and such other purposes as may be necessary for the benefit of our volunteers in that part of the United States."
Mr. Chamberlin's long experience with soldiers, qualifies him for this duty. We may add that Wm. C. Reed, Miss Annie Bell, Miss Sallie Chamberlin (recently Lewisburgers) are assisting in the various hospitals at Nashville. With all these, a soldier in that region may well desire to be sick or wounded at Nashville—if anywhere.

The Lewisburg Agricultural works are now run to their utmost extent, to supply the demands for Mowers and Reapers. Several hundreds have already been sent away, and the wants of the farmers can hardly be supplied. From what we see and hear, we anticipate a full harvest of grain and grass in our State. There are less poor fields than were prophesied in the Spring, and every week's advance is wonderful.
Lost.—On the 18th ult., T. M. Shanafelt, of Lewisburg, Pa., being at the Railway Depot, put in Hess' omnibus a large leather valise upon which was plainly marked his name and residence. He did not accompany it, and has never heard from it since. It contained clothing and books of some value to the owner, who will make suitable compensation for any information concerning it.

JOSUA REED GIDDINGS, so long the champion of Liberty in Congress, dropped dead in Montreal one day last week, from a disease which had troubled him many years. He was born in Athens, Pa., in 1795, served under Gen. Harrison when 17 years of age, and leaves a bright and unsullied record as a citizen and as a statesman.

One evening this week, Mench's store-room, in Lewisburg, was broken into, and quite a quantity of silk goods, &c. was taken away. Attempts were made to break into other places of business, but they failed. Look out for idlers and suspicious characters.

SHAMOKIN.—Rev. A. D. Hawn received an accession of fifteen new members into the Presbyterian church. A Borough incorporation is proposed. The School Directors have purchased for their own use, at $2,900, the buildings designed for a Collegiate Institute.

Rev. Dr. Thomas Bowman, recently of Lewisburg and Williamsport, is chosen Chaplain of the U. S. Senate. He is also appointed a delegate to the Methodist Conference in England.

The examinations of the drafted men for Union county will be held at Sunbury, on Friday and Saturday, 17th and 18th of this month, commencing at 9 o'clock of each morning.

Dr. James D. Strawbridge and Maj. Samuel D. Strawbridge are among the new forces, which recently left for the front, from Harrisburg.

Charles T. Huston Esq., is appointed Master Commissioner in chancery, by the Circuit Court, Alexandria, Va.

The Draft is going on peaceably in several of the States.

To the Editors of the Star & Chronicle:
The following lines were dedicated to the memory of Capt. ROYAL BRONSON, of Co. D, 150th P. V., by an intimate friend in the army. Royal related, in August, 1861, as a private, afterwards served as Corporal, Sergeant, First Lieutenant, and lately as Captain, in which capacity he was wounded at the Wilderness, May 28th, and died, (after amputation of one limb above the knee,) at the Kentucky Mansion Hospital, Fredericksburg, Va., May 28th. His age was 21 years, 4 months and 16 days. None lament his death more than those who knew him best.
He has gone, he has gone. Yes, his spirit has fled
From this world of dark sorrow to that of the dead;
But I can not yet feel that I'll never more see
My friend Royal Bronson, the Captain of D.

I can not yet think that I'll bear anymore
The sob of bright thought at our camp cottage door,
Nor that white 'mid our plumes, and all full of jest,
And I should now be a corpse, Oh! hard is the truth.
I mourn when I think that just three weeks ago
I marched by his side to fight with the foe;
That thus, in the prime of his youth and youth,
He should now be a corpse, Oh! hard is the truth.
He has gone from our midst, and we're now left to mourn
The loss of a friend as good as our lives;
Even he's gone to a land where we do not know,
And strive in an outpost, for joy as long alone.
Then let it not weep, for God has decreed
That his life should be given in his country's need;
But we'll think of him often and honor his name,
Who fell in defence of our Nation's proud name.

Three Days in Cumberland Valley, and East of it.
'TIS A QUARTER OF A CENTURY SINCE:
It is singular what a train of long dormant recollections are awakened, at times, by a trifling incident.

Between Gettysburg and Petersburg, tooting up a gentle hill, my attention was suddenly drawn to a small house, on a corner of crossroads, having a "stoop" in front along its first story. The fact flashed across my mind that it was Col. Baltzar Snyder's tavern stand. Unknown and unthought of, our landlord had sent us on the very road I had traveled on my only previous visit to the region—yet nothing, from Carlisle to Gettysburg, did I recognize, save that dingy old house, that I had forgotten so many, many years. The way of that imprint on my memory—as I find by refreshing myself with the dates, at home—was on this wise.

Just before becoming of age (like most careless, fearless, wandering youth) I desired to see more of this vain world, and got as far as Harrisburg by stage. At that time, there was very little work to be had, and my money was pretty nearly "all." However, one fine day in Spring, I turned southward for a foot voyage to Mount Vernon—packed on my back, stiff to hand, generally bread and cheese in pocket, my drink when dry in any brook or spring along my track. Thus provided, I made my journey, going from 14 to 30 miles a day, (satisfying myself, now, that then I might have made a soldier.) My first day's record names Allen, Pennsborough, Silver Spring—(no Shirmanstown, nor Mechanicsburg or "Piebald") then—"Hogtown," (Hogtown, now—Kingston, Middlesex, Pennose's Mills. Sunday in Carlisle. On 19th March, passed over South Mountain, where the snow was two to three feet deep, and, melting, had swelled a bridgeless branch of the Yellow Breeches creek: I jumped over, at the cost of a grievous rent in my apparel, while my traveling companion (who lived near by) missed, and fell into the water. (It seemed impossible to realize that where we two had jugged over that silent mountain, and through the "alush," joking and chatting all alone, a quarter of a century after there should throng a huge army of grisly enemies of our country, provided with every engine of death, and followed in opposition by brother Americans—perhaps from my own town.) "At Petersburg, a pretty little lady gave me one of the best cold bites I ever did have."

(Perhaps she is now the landlady who just entertained us so well, and who has a son in the army.) "After dark, stopped at Snyder's tavern, in Heidelberg, and dried my feet. A noisy Leo there, who declared that the Whigs were like the Federalists and Tories—would never fight for the country: but he was shut up by some one referring to a company from the region in the war of 1812, which had four Democrats only, two of whom deserted at the first danger, of whom the last speaker was one!" (Such braggers adorn our day.) At Gettysburg, I was kindly directed by a gentleman of foreign birth, (whose son-in-law I first happened to meet, and who was equally polite, on my next trip to the place.) Visited the school of an old-time teacher, (whose friends yesterday accompanied us to the battle-field.) Expressed a hope that Thad. Stevens would have a wider range of influence by virtue of position, and would be fit on the Slavery question, (and to-day, delegated by Lancaster, as Administration leader of the lower House in Congress, Stevens is the giant adversary of the Slave Power.)

Now, of all that long, dreary walk from Carlisle to Gettysburg, I remember much in general, but no particular point, thing, or person, except Baltzar's plain tavern—not even Baltzar himself, who I believe has passed away. Then I was mostly alone—but have company, now, who then I had never seen. Tired and hungry as I was that dismal day, I enjoyed my plain fare better than I now digest tavern bills at $1.50, and $1.00 per diem carriage rides in this pleasant May. The quarter of a century since I trudged along here, has been big with events—it is a long time to go back to, step by step, and fill up the years and seasons and months and weeks and nights and hours and moments between—yet, starting back at 't bound, it seems but as yesterday, and my heart as young as ever.—So much for the reminiscences awakened by that old tavern stand!

—It would be tiresome to travel over again, in mind, my jaunt to Mount Vernon, suggested by that isolated, talismanic, unanticipated awaker. Allow me to add that at Gettysburg I first saw, at a funeral, some of the Amish or Dunkards: their long, white, flowing boards, their simple dress, gentle demeanor, and the calm, kind expression of their countenances, (united to the general testimony as to the diabolicalness of their lives,) conveyed a strong impression of a close resemblance to the patriots and holy men of old. No thought had I, then, that I would ever become a neighbor of their brethren, nor that in so short a time their long boards would be the fashionable attire of those few fops who then despised and ridiculed those they now imitate! I would also state that, at Washington, I took particular notice of Franklin Pierce, since President—and that I recorded the fact that G. W. P. Curtis, daughter, (or grand-daughter,) heir to much of Gen. Washington's estate, "married an officer" that officer is now the military brass of the Rebellion—Robert E. Lee by name.

Tuesday Morning's News.
WASHINGTON, May 30.—Grant has again out-generalled Lee, by leaving Lee to enjoy his strongholds, while Grant swung his army around to the S. E., and crossed the Pamunkey, 15 miles from Richmond, for which he appears to be vigorously and hopefully pressing.

Latest News GRANT'S PROGRESS.

Since Gen. Grant performed that masterly movement which left Lee in his fortifications, the latter hastened to intercept Grant's advance upon Richmond. Several severe encounters between portions of the armies have occurred, in which the Union armies were uniformly successful, and a steady advance was made. Wednesday, Gen. Burnside's advance was within a mile and a half of Mechanicsville, which is about five miles from Richmond. Grant comes in the North of the Chickahominy Swamp, so that he intends to avoid it. His supplies now come by York River, the White House being used for that purpose. Butler has had a portion of his force, under "Baldy" Smith, transferred to Grant. In short, our men and officers are most hopeful of the result, and determined to capture Richmond, no matter how long it may take, or how desperate may be the resistance.

A rebel iron-clad attacked a monitor near Bermuda Hundred, but was driven back. By accident, four torpedoes exploded near Newbern, N. C., by which 40 of our men were instantly killed.

SHERMAN'S MARCH

On the 1st inst, Sherman occupied Marietta, 27 miles from Atlanta, and his advance was 15 miles near Atlanta. Atlanta is the most important central city in the S. W., and Gen. Sherman continues to be successful in his expedition to capture it.

The Waverly (Southern New York) Advocate says a worm is devouring it not destroying the currant and gooseberry bushes in that region. Sprinkling something to kill the worms upon the bushes, seems to be the only remedy yet known.

To DOCTORS AND STOREKEEPERS.—I am compelled by the increasing demand for my Pine Tree Tar Cordial to send in many cases only half the amount ordered, but I am increasing my facilities for preparing it, so that I hope to be equal to the demand in a short time.

Those who are about to order will much oblige me by making their orders as small as possible for the next twenty days.
